

PROJECT CASE STUDY

Client

Andronaco Industries

Location

Grand Rapids, MI

Background

Andronaco, a leader in fluid management systems for corrosive environments, initially collaborated with Kentwood on smaller projects, including seating and chair repairs. This partnership allowed Andronaco to experience firsthand the capabilities and value Kentwood brings to commercial interiors. When it was time to undertake a significant office remodel and expansion at their Plant 1 facility, they turned to us to bring their vision to life.

Project Objectives

- Centralizing staff in a cohesive workspace to enhance communication and teamwork.
- Creating a balance of open office areas for collaboration and private offices for focused work.
- Designing versatile meeting spaces to support both formal and informal interactions.

Our Solution

Kentwood worked closely with Andronaco to furnish spaces that met their functional and aesthetic needs. The scope of the project included:

Open Office Spaces: Designed to facilitate teamwork and allow for flexibility as the organization grows.

Private Offices: Provided quiet and focused environments for individual productivity.

Meeting Spaces: Equipped with functional and adaptable furniture to support a variety of team activities, from quick brainstorming sessions to more formal meetings.

Results

The completed remodel and expansion have transformed Plant 1 into a dynamic and efficient workspace that reflects Andronaco's goals and values. The centralized layout fosters greater collaboration among team members while providing tailored environments for different work styles. With thoughtfully furnished spaces, Andronaco now operates in a more cohesive and productive setting, setting the stage for continued success.
